BRECKSVILLE UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST

MAY 2023

TO BE LOVING, SERVING, AND ACCEPTING OF ALL PEOPLE
WITH GOD'S LIFE-CHANGING POWER AND GRACE

Pastor's Ponderings.....

To really understand the UCC, we've got to understand two ideas: covenant and autonomy.

When the United Church of Christ formed in 1957, four different denominations joined as one. We made a covenant – that's what bonded us together. And yet, each of those four different denominations held different theologies and styles of worship – they were each autonomous.¹ I guess this explains the weirdness of the UCC.

The venerable rock band U2 expresses it well: "We're one but we're not the same." The equally venerable composer, Felix Mendelssohn said, "The essence of beauty is unity in diversity."

This can help us understand why the UCC can seem different from other Christian denominations. Most of them have strict and clear doctrines that require the assent of each member. The UCC doesn't do that, and sometimes it gets messy. But we prefer authenticity to tidiness.

In the UCC we embrace diversity. Different congregations make different decisions about communion, Open & Affirming, leadership structure and more. We like to keep it real. Each congregation and each person in the congregation can believe things differently and that's not a problem, because it's authentic. But, lordy, just because it's inspiring doesn't keep it from getting chaotic.

The Bible itself is both inspiring and chaotic. That's because the Bible reflects the lived experience of a diverse collection of authors, centuries, theologies, cultures, contexts and histories. If you want, you could use the Bible to execute disobedient children,² smash babies' heads against a rock,³ own slaves⁴ and commit genocide.⁵ But, please, don't try this at home.

With such wacky texts, how can we make sense of anything at all? How can we be "one, but not the same" or find that "unity in diversity." For me, it all comes down to John 15:12. Jesus said, "This is my commandment, that you love one another.” Love is the one commandment to rule them all. St. Augustine put it concisely, “Love and do what you will.”⁶

Abortion is an issue that is rocking our nation now. Many of those marching against abortion feel driven by their Christian faith. What about the UCC? This is where covenant and autonomy show their strength. We’re one, but we’re not the same.

In our congregation, we have members who are strongly “pro-life” and others who are strongly “pro-choice.” Both camps advocate for their positions. And both are welcome. Many churches are confounded by that. Not us; it’s who we are. It’s what we do. “Love and do what you will.”

The Bible says nothing directly about abortion, even though abortion was practiced in biblical times. What makes this issue unique is the unsettled debate over when a human life actually begins. Even theological major-leaguers like Thomas Aquinas said that the “ensoulment” of unborn babies (when they are regarded as persons) happened weeks after conception. It was 40 days for boys, 80 days for girls. Yeah – go figure.

If you believe that abortion is wrong, don’t have an abortion. If you believe that same sex marriage is wrong, don’t marry someone of your sex. If you believe it’s wrong to miss church on Sunday, then don’t miss church. We can hold deeply personal moral standards and live by them without necessarily imposing them on others. Religious liberty means we are free to practice our faith. It does not require others to conform to our faith.

Here’s an example. Jehovah’s Witnesses believe that blood transfusions are immoral. They cite compelling biblical reasons. Religiously and legislatively, we honor that; it’s their body and their choice. That doesn’t mean that they should make all blood transfusions illegal. They get to make moral decisions about their own bodies, but not mine and not yours.

So, the UCC encourages each person to make their own decisions about matters of personal faith and morality. We covenant together, while we also respect the autonomy of each person and each congregation. We can respectfully disagree and debate at coffee hour. And all the while Lois Lorenzo’s apple cake tastes just as yummy.

“Religion is at its best when it makes us ask hard questions of ourselves. Religion is at its worst when it deludes us into thinking we have all the answers for everyone else.” – Archibald MacLeish

OCWM

POSTCARD WRITING CAMPAIGN - At Brecksville UCC, we are answering the call of “doing justice and seeking peace” by meeting each month to write to our legislators about issues identified by the National UCC. The next session will be on Tuesday May 9 at 6:15 pm, at Panera in Brecksville. The topic will be announced on Sunday prior to the session.

If you are unable to attend but would still like to participate, you can find stamped postcards displayed in the lobby (outside the office). If you have any questions, please contact Ann Kelley – call the church for her contact information.

ADDITIONAL SOCIAL JUSTICE LEARNING OPPORTUNITY – Did you know that the UCC has a Justice and Peace Action Network? Check out their website by clicking here: UCC Justice and Peace Action Network , or by typing in this website address: <https://p2a.co/o0Ur54O> . Listed there are over 30 issues on which you can take immediate action by sending emails to your Congressional Representatives and by sharing information on social media. Find an issue or issues you are passionate about and get started!

SPECIAL MOTHER’S DAY COLLECTION - BUCC will be taking an offering on May 7th to benefit Edna House in Cleveland, Ohio. The mission of Edna House is to assist women recovering from drug and alcohol addiction and to give them a chance at a new life, by providing a safe, sober place to live. Edna House is independent of government funding and is sustained only through donations from individuals and businesses in the communities they serve. Jennifer Lasky, director of Edna House, will be giving a short presentation during our May 7th service. In addition to cash donations, which are always appreciated, the current and ongoing need is for donations of coffee, powdered creamer, packets of sugar or sweet-n-low and tea bags. Please consider contributing to this amazing organization and thank you in advance for your generosity!

SPIRITUAL LIFE

SINCERE THANKS FROM SPIRITUAL LIFE – Lent, Holy Week and Easter were so very meaningful and joyful in 2023. Our little ministry can't thank you enough for giving so generously of your valuable time and innumerable talents.

We want to take a moment to specifically call out our six "Soup Goddesses," Jackie Cassara, Peg Duffy, Ann Kelley, Connie Schultz, Sue Stenzel and Sherrill Witt. Ash Wednesday and Maundy Thursday were made even more meaningful by your delicious contributions. We are truly blessed (and spoiled!)

SUMMER MUSIC VOLUNTEER PROGRAM – Over the next few weeks, Dave D. will be recruiting singers and instrumentalists to share their musical gifts with our congregation over the summer months. These musical offerings replace the regular choir anthems from June through Labor Day, so the choir can take a well-deserved break. If you'd like to volunteer, let Dave know so he can put you on the schedule. He'll be passing around a sign-up list during coffee hour. Dave will be glad to help you find a song or instrumental music, and will rehearse with you as much or as little as you'd like. High school students are welcome to participate.

MUGS, MUGS AND MORE MUGS! – Have you wondered why there is a table full of mugs down in Pilgrim Hall? Well we have a wonderful problem - we have run out of room for mugs for all the new members!!!

Back in February we cleaned out the mug bins and put all the mugs on several tables down in Pilgrim Hall. You've had a couple of months to go through the mugs, grab yours (and those on any family and friends who may not have been able to come by) and put them back in a bin of your choosing. We have also been posting pictures of mugs on the

Facebook page in an attempt to locate owners. We've been fairly successful and are now down to one table of unclaimed mugs - but they can't stay there forever!

At the end of May we will be packing away all of the orphan mugs - NONE will be thrown away unless someone specifically says to do so. Next time you are at the church, please swing by Pilgrim Hall and collect your mug -- feel free to get the mugs for any family or friends who haven't been able to come in -- and put the mug(s) in one of the bins along the wall. Any mugs that have not been taken or moved will be packed away.

Some of the mugs belonged to members that have passed away. We are planning a really cool wall display for these mugs, so help in identifying those is also appreciated!

If you have otherwise lost or broken your mug, we are happy to make a replacement! You can either sign up on the mug table, or email Sue Maier at Eyerienne@aol.com and we will make sure you have a new mug. We do ask that you make a donation to the general fund in response.

STEWARDSHIP/LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

LET'S GET GROWING!! The Stewardship Ministry invites those of you who plant a garden of vegetables, fruits, or flowers to plant some extra this spring and summer. If you're already doing all the work, just do a little more to help out BUCC. Whenever your harvest comes in, we will make a table available on Sundays after church to sell whatever you bring in. All of the funds will go to the General Fund to help bring down the deficit.
